

Terrorist Groups in Syria

The crisis in Syria is a complicated mess. Assad has slaughtered innocent civilians and has used chemical weapons on his own people. Assad is supported by the Iranian regime and Hezbollah. Aside from Hezbollah and Assads armed forces, there are Shabihas, irregular militias, that are loyal death squads for the regime. On the other side you have the Sunni fighters who range from so-called moderates to hard core extremists with ties to al-Qaeda. The worst is the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria, ISIS, which is al-Qaeda. ISIS numbers well into the thousands, and most of the foreign fighters who have come to Syria fight with ISIS. ISIS sits at the top of the pyramid, followed by Jabhat al-Nusra, or JN, which is another jihadist group that is philosophically aligned with al-Qaeda. The so-called moderates fight for the Supreme Military Command Council, or SMC, but a large faction of the SMC has defected to al-Qaeda. With so-called moderates fleeing to al-Qaeda, it seems that conflict has become a war between radical al-Qaeda affiliated extremists and a brutal dictator.
