

Travels of Paul: A Course of Study for Boys Bible Classes (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Travels of Paul: A Course of Study for Boys Bible Classes The life of Paul is peculiarly suited for Bible class work with boys. It is in the highest degree dramatic. The scenes are laid in all the chief centers of interest in the Roman world - Jerusalem, Damascus, Antioch, Ephesus, Athens, Corinth, Rome. The actors are of every nation and rank - Jewish rabbis, Roman officers, Greek philosophers, Christian martyrs, soldiers, sailors, craftsmen. There are adventures by land and sea, conspiracies, mobs, trials at law, imprisonments, escapes, flights and a most vividly portrayed shipwreck. No book in the Bible calls for so much illustration by pictures and maps as does the book of Acts. In order to understand Paul's circumstances the student must understand the Pharisee in his fanatical devotion to Jerusalem and its splendid temple and venerable law, the Roman in his imperial pride and hardness, the Greek in his elegant culture and moral weakness, the common people of the empire in their ignorance and degradation.
